Brendan Bartic Chairmen

Brendan Bartic is a national sales trainer, motivational speaker, U.S. Army Infantry veteran, and the founder of Listing BEAST. His extraordinary journey to success began with overcoming significant adversity in his youth. As a teenager, Brendan was a resident at Third Way Center, navigating challenges in a childhood marked by addiction and mental illness within his family. Experiencing foster care, juvenile detention, and barely completing his schooling, Brendan overcame immense obstacles, earning a GED with only an eighth-grade education and no initial connections or resources.

Determined to shape his own future, Brendan enlisted in the U.S. Army Infantry, serving multiple tours and demonstrating unwavering commitment and resilience. After his military service, Brendan dedicated himself fully to personal and professional growth. He invested heavily in coaching, training, and self-improvement systems, enabling him to excel despite humble beginnings.

Today, Brendan has achieved monumental success, selling over $3.9 billion in residential real estate and earning more than $68 million in Gross Commission Income. Beyond his impressive professional achievements, Brendan's true passion lies in empowering others, particularly those who have faced similar hardships, to realize their own potential. He has coached thousands of real estate agents nationwide, equipping them with proven strategies through his Listing BEAST program, the exact blueprint Brendan used to transform his life from adversity to national success.

As the current Chair of the Board at Third Way Center, Brendan's journey has come full circle. His inspirational story underscores the transformative power of resilience, determination, and access to supportive resources. Brendan is deeply committed to giving back and ensuring more youth have the opportunities and guidance they need to achieve their dreams, just as he did.
