Courtney Johnston

Board Member

Courtney started her career teaching middle school social studies in the Mississippi Delta. Compelled by the opportunity to serve families more holistically, she shifted careers to become a Social Worker in Atlanta for Child Protective Services. She then moved to Colorado, where she worked as a Therapist and Assistant Treatment Leader for Third Way Center – Bannock, which served teenage mothers. After spending years working with people who were victims of childhood trauma, Courtney went to law school and became a District Attorney to focus on prosecuting sex crimes and crimes against children. In that role, she has served as a Chief Deputy District Attorney, handling a caseload of major felonies and specializing in sex crimes and crimes against children. Courtney holds a BA Degree from Agnes Scott College, a Master's in Human Development and Psychology from Harvard, and a Law Degree from the University of Denver, where she was a Chancellor's Scholar. In her spare time, Courtney is in charge of three kids, three cats, one dog, and one husband.
